

1st Annual IFAIR Student Research Symposium

Date: October 22, 2024
Time: 4:00 p.m. - 5:30 p.m.

Sophia Eagle

Undergraduate Student in English with a minor in Native Studies

My Time at the Oceti Sakowin Writer's Society Retreat

Ashik Istiak

PhD Student in American studies and Graduate Teaching Assistant

Discovering Diné Literary Tradition: A Close Reading of Selected Early and Contemporary Diné Authors

John White

PhD Student, Education (Language Literacy and Social Science) and Graduate Research Assistant for IFAIR

Integrating Navajo (Dine) Cultural Mathematics into Classroom Instruction: An Interview with Dr. Henry Fowler

Madeline Mendoza

PhD Candidate in Rhetoric and Writing

Indigenous Feminist Rhetorics and the Role of Land in Indigenous Futurisms

Kara Roanhorse

PhD Candidate in American Studies

Indigenous Youth Resistance: A Century of Survivance and Feminist Pedagogies

Symposium Description

Join us for conversations and discourse with four outstanding Summer 2024 Research Fellows. The Institute for American Indian Research (IFAIR) has provided funding for their research area of interest and/or dissertation research. IFAIR is hosting a symposium for these outstanding fellows to present their research.

Come and enjoy some light refreshments!.

Sponsored by IFAIR

The Frank Waters Room
(Inside Zimmerman Library)
University of New Mexico
1 University of New Mexico
Albuquerque, NM

Zoom Link:

<https://unm.zoom.us/j/99202967875>

Meeting ID: 992 0296 7875

Passcode: IFAIR

Dr. Sarah Hernandez
Associate Professor
Director for IFAIR